2020 Spencer Stuart Consumer Sector Snapshot

Boards of consumer companies in the S&P 500 index tend to be slightly younger and more gender diverse than S&P 500 boards. In other respects, governance practices and structures of consumer companies — consisting of 95 companies in the S&P 500 consumer staples and consumer discretionary primary sectors — are comparable to S&P 500 boards.

- » The average age of independent directors on consumer boards is 61.8 years, lower than the 63.0 year average for S&P 500 boards.
- » The youngest average age of a consumer board is 51.8 years, the oldest is 71.2.
- » Consumer boards average 10.8 directors, compared to 10.7 members on S&P 500 boards.
- » Eighty-four percent (84%) of consumer directors are independent, versus 85% of S&P 500 directors.
- » The average board tenure of independent directors on consumer boards is 8.0 years, just above the 7.9 average for S&P 500 boards.
- » The longest-tenured consumer board averages 15.6 years.

Diversity

Gender diversity of consumer boards is the highest of all primary sectors in the S&P 500 index, with women representing 31% of all consumer board members in 2020, compared to 28% of S&P 500 directors.

Every S&P 500 company has at least one female director. Ninety-five percent (95%) of the S&P 500 index have at least two female directors, and two-thirds (67%) of S&P 500 companies have three or more female directors. In contrast, three-quarters (76%) of the consumer companies have three or more women directors. Thirteen S&P 500 boards are composed of at least 50% women; six are consumer companies.

Representation of Women Directors on Consumer Company Boards

When it comes to race/ethnic diversity of the boardroom, 21% of directors of 47 consumer companies in the top 200 companies are minorities (defined as Black/African American, Hispanic/Latinx and Asian), slightly above the 20% average for the S&P 500 index. The diversity breakdown of consumer boards generally aligns with the S&P 500: 10% Black/African Americans (compared to 10% of S&P 500 directors); 6% Hispanic/Latinx (compared to 4% S&P 500); and 5% Asian (compared to 5% S&P 500). According to the U.S. Census Bureau, about 40% of the U.S. population is estimated to be a minority, including 18.5% Hispanic/Latinx, 13.4% Black/African American, 5.9% Asian.

New independent director backgrounds

Forty-four companies — 46% of the surveyed S&P 500 consumer companies, the lowest percentage of all S&P 500 primary sectors — added at least one director over the past year. Appointees averaged 56.0 years of age, lower than the 57.8 average for all independent directors joining S&P 500 boards and the second lowest average of all sectors in the S&P 500. First-time directors represented 27% of directors joining consumer boards — slightly lower than the 28% overall average for the S&P 500.

Diverse directors constituted 62% of the 66 directors joining consumer boards over the past year: 48% are women and 14% are minority men, the second-highest percentage of S&P 500 primary sectors. In comparison, 59% of directors joining the S&P 500 index in 2020 are diverse, including 47% women and 12% minority men.

More than half (55%) of the directors joining consumer boards are actively employed, compared to 49% of independent directors joining S&P 500 boards. The sector's incoming class of division/subsidiary executives is the highest percentage of all S&P 500 primary sectors. Most (90%) of the additions to consumer boards in 2020 are current or former CEOs (35%); finance/accounting professionals (23%); division/subsidiary heads (14%); line/functional leaders and other top corporate executives (9% each).
